

The heads in one layer do measurably different things

