

Moving into the latent buys far more than the 48x element count suggests

