

One frame of real speech. The fine ripple is PITCH (harmonics of the vocal folds);
the broad bumps are FORMANTS, and they decide which vowel you hear.

